Keeping track of 8.8 Million ducks every year was never going to be an easy task...

What did Euralis need?

- A central database for consistent data throughout the company
- To record accurate, detailed data about each recipe and process and to manage multiple complex recipes
- Full batch control and backwards and forwards batch traceability to make each and every product fully auditable
- To fully integrate the very specific protocols associated with Foie Gras and delicatessen meat production into the entire production cycle
- Better inventory, shelf-life and waste management
- Comprehensive Forecasting and Costing tools
- Optimized factory scheduling and warehouse management practices
- Flexibility to fit the demands of their very specific market segment
- A solution that would accommodate and support their company's growth

Euralis on ProcessForce...

“CompuTec ProcessForce has enhanced the capabilities of SAP Business One so that we can correctly define our production processes particularly in regard to Bill of Materials and the processes themselves. With the support of ProcessForce we can now monitor our production effectively. This is especially valuable to us in terms of industrial performance and quality control, where the full batch traceability features come in to play.”

Laurent Courtet
IT Manager for Euralis

“Our industry, its regulators and our customers have very high standards. This means we have incredibly particular specialized requirements but the CompuTec team were really flexible with us. We were truly impressed with their ability to customize their CompuTec WMS product in our Canadian subsidiary precisely as we asked them to so that we could continue doing business in the way that we know works for us.”
